Exam Strategies for Class XII Board Exam

- Keep your concepts intact.
 - Although you should be done with your syllabus and have revised each chapter, it is understandable that you still do not feel completely confident enough. This could be due to lack of in depth understanding of concept.
 - Be thorough with NCERT textbook. The book has been structured in such a way that it ensures complete concept coverage. The strategy should be a perfect blend of learning and revising syllabus. Do not skip diagrams, tables, graphs given in the textbook.
 - Jot down important notes and formulae that you come across. This will help you have a quick recapitulation before your exam. Mark difficult question in each chapter and revise after a gap for 2 or 3 days.
- Have a Planned Mix and Match Schedule.
 - Effectively plan your revision schedule. Do not have all easy subjects in a day or do not burden yourself with topics that you find difficult.
 - To maximize your output start your day with a subject you are relatively comfortable with and then take up a heavy subject. Gradually increase the level the preparation for that subject by allotting more time to it.

- Sample Papers/ Question Banks / MCQs
 - Solving sample papers will help you revise as in all probability these sample papers cover the entire syllabus and gives a fair idea of the format of the question paper and helps in building your confidence.
- Select a suitable study corner at your home
 - To prepare effectively for the examinations you need to identify a quiet corner of your home so as to study in peace and prepare comprehensively.
 - Ensure that you are away from any kind of distractions like the television, phone or any other electronic gadget.
 - Avoid Facebook or any online chatting as your valuable time gets wasted.
- Have a healthy diet & exercise regularly
 - Following a healthy dietary schedule is important during exams. Ensure that you take a light dinner whenever you plan to study till late. Over eating makes you lethargic and decreases your grasping power. This creates difficulty for you to remember facts. Also strictly avoid junk food.
 - Do light exercises/ Yoga/ Pranayam to remain agile especially because you spend more time sitting for studies.
 - Studying till late hours should be avoided in the later stages of exam preparation. You should never remain awake till late night a day before examination as this creates headache the next morning.
- Take Short breaks
 - Take deep breaths in between and relax your brain from unnecessary information. This simple technique works wonders for your mind. Listen to soothing music that calms your mind and eases your tension.
 - Discuss difficult ones with your teachers. Ward off any kind of ambiguity relating to the topic.
- Counselling sessions available
 - Take help of the counsellors and career counsellor for additional help in dealing with exam stress, or any other preparation mode.
